Special Interest Rural

Take a break from the back to work and school rush with the new February-March issue of OUTBACK. This edition focuses on one of the most important issues facing rural and remote Australia: healthcare. It's a must read for anyone with an interest in health away from the services of our big cities. As well as our favourites of Dogs, Boots, Mailboxes and more, there's a stunning pictorial on the Colours of Australia, a fascinating History story on the former West Australian miner who went on to become an American President, a journey through the Red Centre, and a special offer for all readers for Mother's Day. It's the new issue of OUTBACK - watch out for the stunning mosaic of the Great Barrier Reef on the cover.

In the latest issue of Cosmos:

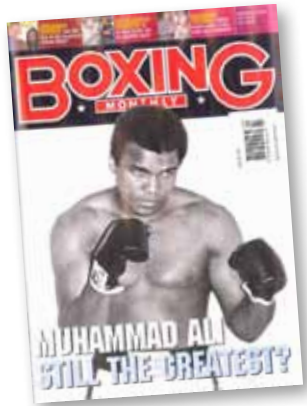

A mystery illustration made by an 18th-century astronomer has revealed the most massive flare from the Sun ever recorded. When next one erupts – as scientists are now certain one will – the flare will wreak global chaos and likely bring our modern interconnected civilisation to a standstill. Read about superflares from the Sun, plus, a revolutionary technique that reveals your brain in a new light and could combat behaviours from addiction to depression. Find out also why the top athletes win, and if we are facing a Gattaca-style world of predictive genetics that could typecast us from birth.
